Judge R. A. Burnside, special revenue agent, has been ordered to North Carolina for sixty days' work with ten other picked men. The fact that he was chosen out of much older and experienced revenue men from all over the United States is quite a compliment to his ability as an officer.

The Record office had a pleasant call from Mr Peter Wells, of Bloomington, Illinois, this week. Mr Wells was born and reared at Hattsville, but now has a good business in Bloomington. The Garrard county boys all do well when they go out into the world, verifying the old saying that "You can't keep a good man down."

Mr and Mrs J S Armstrong, of Dallas, Texas, are visiting the latter's parents, Capt. and Mrs Franklin J. White, on Richmond street. Mr Armstrong, in early life, traveled for a Louisville grocery firm, and "made" Lancaster on his regular trips. While making these visits to our city, he met the charming lady who is now his wife, and they were married in 1878. He soon moved to Dallas, Texas where he established a packing house, which under his able management, soon grew into one of the largest in the West. Today, the Armstrong Packing Co., is known to produce and packing men all over the nation. He is one of the few men who have worked their way up in business and, by his good judgment, untiring energy and liberal views has laid by enough of this world's goods to keep the wolf from the door during his remaining years, but it seems impossible to induce a man who has always worked hard to let loose of the plow handle, and when not actively engaged, Mr Armstrong is like a fish out of water. One of his many noble traits is his desire to help young men who are trying to get a foot-hold in the world, and, if he learns of a deserving young man, he quickly offers his services in securing employment and will, if necessary, go into his own pocket to help that man, but on the other hand, if he once goes up against a lazy, shiftless fellow, that boy had best stay on the other side of the street. Mr and Mrs Armstrong will remain for several weeks, much to the gratification of their many friends and acquaintances in Lancaster and vicinity.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY
Celebrated Wednesday July 6th, by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Anderson.

Mr and Mrs William G. Anderson celebrated their fiftieth anniversary on Wednesday July 6, at the old home stead near Lancaster, Ky., where they first pledged their nuptial vows, where their children were born, and where they have known, in happy companionship their share of the vicissitudes of life. The evening shades dropped gently down upon the long line of carriages that conveyed the friends to the festal scene. The approach was lighted by tissue paper lanterns whose soft glow revealed the gay commingling of the younger contingent—the grand children and close relatives of the present generation. Within the time-honored rooms were assembled the older guests, some of whom were contemporaries of the bride and groom. Of these were present nine persons who witnessed the ceremony in 1854. Among the silvered heads none showed the march of time less than the couple in whose honor the company were assembled.

The interior was decorated with trailing vines and blooming plants. Cut flowers clustered in vases, and glowing candles added to the brilliancy of the scene. Upon a background of green, against the lofty stairway were the figures 1854 and 1904 cut out in white and gold. Not least among the favorite places of commingling was the large room where lemonade was served and the bridal presents displayed. There was a handsome collection of golden souvenirs, useful and ornamental. In the receiving line with the bride and groom were: Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robinson, Mrs. Maria Soper Jasper, and Mr. and Mrs. W H Wherritt. Mr Wherritt was one of the wedding attendants when a young man, and he and his handsome wife will celebrate their own golden anniversary if spared till November 1905.

Mrs Anderson wore black peau de soie, with white ruchings. White sweet peas in her hair. Each member of the bridal party wore a white hollyhock boutonniere. The cheerful faces, happy words, heartfelt greetings, and grand old rooms, made up a picture long to be remembered. The immediate family present were: Mrs. Nannie Young and children, among whom were Mr and Mrs Levering Young; Mrs. Lula Bowman, Mrs. Florence Grant and children; Mr and Mrs. Charles Anderson and children. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Franklin Bacon, of Louisville, Mr. Dr. Jasper, of Nicholasville; Mrs. E D Potts and Mrs. Matt Walton, of Lexington.

Quite a number were prevented by the infirmities of age from leaving their homes at night. Mrs. Susan Anderson, however, was present, with her ever ready word of cheer. At supper the guests were seated around a tastefully decorated board of tempting delicacies. The Rev. Mr. Pinder offered thanks and spoke choice words of congratulation and appreciation. Mrs. Potts expressed good wishes by reciting an original poem printed and framed in gold, which is appended to this sketch. She then led in the familiar words of Auld Lang Syne, in joined by voices. The occasion made a happy landmark down the hill of life.

At the considerate hour of ten good-byes were spoken, and wishing the popular pair many happy returns of their wedding day, the world wassoon "left to darkness and to them."

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY
Wm G ANDERSON
Good Wishes from Eugene Dunlap Potts.

'Twas on a balmy summer eve,
Just fifty years ago,
When friends were met to celebrate
The bridal of these two.

The seal of youth was on the brow,
The eye with joy gleamed,
The echoes set to music rare
The lift of love's young dream.

Good cheer, true welcome marked the hour,
Kind words were everywhere,
Rich blessings from devoted hearts
Were showered on the pair.

Not many of that happy throng
Are gathered here tonight;
The few survivors fondly call
The scene by memory's light.

The life began then hand-in-hand,
Has known both cloud and sun;
May evening shades drop gently down
Until the race is run.

The sacred vows are spoke again,
The record of the past,
Is rounding up in pledges new,
To bind them to the last.

God bless them both and all their house,
What time may still be given;
God reunite the ransomed band
Within the courts of heaven!

A GUEST.

Safeguard the Children.
Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in the large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. On June 30th the Grim Reaper visited the home of J H Raney and selected him for his victim. It is what we call death. Is it true, that we die? No. There is no death to the creature made in the image and likeness of the Godhead. It is only a passing or going out of this life. Mr R had been a patient sufferer for many years, but until a few months before his demise was diligent in business and kindly acts toward his fellows. He endeavored, as far as possible, to live peaceably with all men, and at all times observing the Golden Rule. He believed in God, he loved his home and family. As the end approached he talked a little, and about twenty-four hours before his death, he said, "And may God help you all," meaning family and friends about him. Born on the 23rd of September 1832 in Garrard county he has resided here all his life, reaching his majority only a few miles from place of birth. He married Miss Pattie J Ray, who still survives him. To them were born seven children all of whom are living except two. We extend condolence to the bereaved and point them to the Lamb of God, that takes away the sin of the world. "He is not dead but sleepeth."

Brutally Tortured.
A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Goldbeck, of Colusa, Cal., writes. "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from Rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known. I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely cured me." Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by R E McRoberts, Druggist. 1m
